

CONTENTS

Preface	ix
Introduction	xv
1. Emmanuel Levinas's Phenomenology and the Allegiance to Reason	1
a. The Critique of Theory: The Horizons of Theory	2
b. The Phenomenology of the Other and the Struggle to Be Rational	4
c. Phenomenology and Rationality in Levinas	8
2. Dussel's Philosophy of Liberation: Discovery and Integration of Levinas's Thought	18
a. Levinas and Dussel's Anthropological Works	19
b. Levinas and Dussel's Reading of Hegel	26
c. Levinas and the Ethics of Latin American Liberation	28
3. Overcoming Levinas: Analectical Method and Ethical Hermeneutics	50
a. Analectical Method Beyond Levinas: Latin American Mediations and the Analogical Word of the Other	50
b. Analectical Method and the Unmasking of False Universalism	57
c. Analectical Method, Ethical Hermeneutics, and the Positive Assessment of Reason	67
4. Ethical Hermeneutics: History, Economics, and Theology	82
a. History	82
b. Economics (Marx)	90
c. Religion/Theology	105

5. Rationality in Dussel: The American Critics	113
a. Cerutti and Schutte on Dussel	113
b. Assessing the Criticism	116
6. Rationality in Dussel: The Critique of Karl-Otto Apel	127
a. Karl-Otto Apel's Transcendental Pragmatics	127
b. Can Transcendental Pragmatics Replace the Philosophy of Liberation?	132
c. Is Dussel's Reappropriation of Marx Anachronistic?	142
d. Conclusions	154
Bibliography	161
Index	175